

"THE NUMBER TWO CLUE"

Sick of walking around dog droppings?

Part of the problem is the dog owner, who gets distracted and doesn't notice that his/her dog has done its business.

Be part of the solution.

If you are in the off-the-leash section of the park, bring a whistle and if you notice a dog eliminating and observe that no one is preparing to clean up after it, give two short whistles while pointing out the dog.

The whistle will hopefully get the owner's attention to what their dog is doing and encourage them to clean up after their dog immediately.

The two (no. 2 – get it!) short whistles is not meant to shame anyone or anyone's dog but rather dog owners looking out for fellow dog owners – anyone can get distracted by a conversation, a cell phone, their kids, or observing other dogs. We can all help by simply pointing out when a fellow dog owner's dog has done its business to ensure that all messes can be cleaned up quickly.

Remember – 2 short whistles, a quick “hey everyone – whose dog is this?” while pointing out the pooping pooch and we can all enjoy a cleaner dog park!
